Prompt Work Checks the Spread of Cholera in New York.

No New Cases Develop in Any Part of the City To-Day.

The Five Deaths Reported Cause No Panic Among the People.

ORIGIN OF ONE CASE TRACED TO IMMIGRANTS FROM ANTWERP.

The Arrival of the Steamer Bohemia With 500 Russians on Board Expected To-Day—Fears That She Is Pest-Laden—Ship Now Due at New York From Infected Ports—Health Officials Not Alarmed—Passengers Getting Away From Fire Island.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The morning opened bright and frosty and New York is enjoying just the kind of weather to prevent any spread of cholera. The few cases which have appeared here and which were concealed by the Board of Health have in no way alarmed the authorities or the citizens. People here have become educated up to the point of having little or no fear of the formerly much dreaded visitor. The repeated publication of rules to be observed when cholera appears and the long discussions which have taken place in the newspapers on the subject, joined to the presence of cholera in the bay for weeks past has made the average citizen feel perfectly confident that there is no danger of any large mortality from cholera here. The city is in too healthy a condition, it is argued, and the people are too intelligent to allow any serious visitation of cholera to take place. However, this will not prevent the authorities and the public in general from redoubling their efforts to prove that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

While the front door of New York was so carefully locked and so jealously guarded against the dreaded visitor, while ships loaded with passengers were held prisoners on the bay or driven to and fro out of port of mind to another, the cholera slipped in disguised in the clothing of health. But the Health Department, long prepared for such a visitation, has a vast, organized, competent machine ready to stamp it out wherever it appears.

TRACING THE ORIGIN.

In each instance the neighborhood of every case reported as suspicious, the house in which the disease has made its appearance known, and all the inmates of the house have been subjected to a systematic observation, inspection and nursing care.

Emigrant passengers on the steamer Friedland, which arrived here on Aug. 28, seem to have brought the disease to little Minnie Livermore, who died on Sept. 11. They are traced back to Antwerp, where they reached from other cities of Europe, no doubt infected with cholera. When they reached Quarantine there was reported illness on board, and after a few hours detention and so-called fumigation, they were permitted to proceed.

From the steamship, the passengers scattered over the city and the country. Four young women of the company went to No. 41 East Forty-sixth street, where little Minnie lived. There is reason to believe the infection was in their clothing; that they innocently carried it about with them, exposing their dangers themselves, and that from their clothing the child got the disease.

In the case of Callahan a plausible connection seems to be established between him and immigrants who, arriving in the city by trans-Atlantic steamers, went south by the Mallory Line, to whose pier Callahan was often taken by his business. He was a butcher.

In the other instances the relatives and physicians have not been able to suggest the precise method of the infection, but it seems not unlikely that it came about in a similar way.

EVERY PRECAUTION TAKEN.

Dr. Edson was besieged by an army of newsgatherers to get his views on the cause of the unexpected outbreak in the city. He made this statement: There are, so far as the Health officials are now informed, no suspected cholera cases in the city. The body of Charlotte Beck is now being examined by the bacteriologists and the result will be made public as soon as the department receives the report. I do not believe there will be an epidemic of Asiatic cholera in New York, but from now on there will be occasional cases for possibly sixty days, until the plague is stamped out. The cold weather will then be here, and that will be of material assistance in eradicating the cholera germs. I believe that in sixty days we shall have the disease under perfect control even if it becomes epidemic. We are now trying to trace its origin, and we hope to be able in twenty-four hours to tell where some of the victims got the disease. As far as we know there are between 200 and 300 persons at present in danger of infection. We know where they are and we have them visited twice a day by physicians. The houses where the deaths occurred are quarantined to the extent that the tenants are not permitted to leave the city. We have possession of the bodies of the dead, and where their relatives object to cremation the body is sealed in a leaden box, put in a coffin and buried under the supervision of an inspector from the Health Department. We shall keep up the inspection of those open to risk of infection for the full period of incubation of cholera—that is, seven days—and probably even after that. We have inspectors in the neighborhood of the houses where the deaths occurred looking for cases of diarrhea, which will be immediately reported."

STEAMERS ON THE WAY.

It has been authoritatively stated that nine steamships, bearing 5,000 immigrants are enroute to this country. Agents Brown and Shaw, of the Cunard and North German Lloyd Lines respectively, in a statement published to-day say steerage passengers on their way to America were booked before the date of the President's proclamation and they could not be turned back without violating a contract. After the sailing of these steamers the lines to which they belong booked no more steerage passengers. The steamships now en route to this country with steerage passengers are: Inman Line steamer Indiana, Liverpool, Sept. 10, 600 in steerage. Steerage suspended with this steamer.

Anchor Line steamer Ethiopia, Glasgow, Sept. 1, 100 in steerage. Steerage suspended with this ship.

Cunard Line steamer suspended to New York, Steamer Marathon, Liverpool, Sept. 7, for Boston; last ship with steerage for Boston.

French Line, steerage suspended.

Gulf Line steamer Nevada, Liverpool, Sept. 14; steerage suspended with this ship. Hamburg-American Line steamer Bohemia, Hamburg, Aug. 31, with 681 in steerage; steamer Polar, Stettin, Sept. 8, with 165 in steerage; with these ships steerage suspended.

France Line steamer Massilia, Naples, Sept. 12, 400 in steerage; steerage suspended with this ship.

Netherlands Line, steerage suspended.

North German Lloyd Line, steamer Herman, Bremen, Sept. 6, with 500 in steerage; steerage suspended with this ship.

White Star Line steamer Adriatic, Liverpool, Sept. 10, 800 in steerage; steerage suspended with this steamer.

Red Star Line steerage suspended.

Thingvalla Line, steamer Norge, Copenhagen, Aug. 30; steerage suspended with this ship.

FIVE HUNDRED IMMIGRANTS ABOARD.

The Hamburg-American steamer Bohemia, Capt. Schroeder, reported to have been sighted by the Trave yesterday will undoubtedly reach port this afternoon. She left Hamburg on Sept. 8, having on board over 500 immigrants, mainly Russian and Polish Jews, and there is great fear that cholera has broken out among them. The Bohemia is not one of the first-class steamships of the line. She is a vessel of 2,216 tons and is of the same class as the Moravia of the same line, which is now at Quarantine. She usually carries a small number of cabin passengers.

Gen. O'Brien of the Ellis Island depot is organizing a corps of waitresses to go to Camp Low, Sandy Hook, to take care of the immigrants placed there for observation. He expects to complete the quota to-morrow. There are a large number of applicants and preference is given to those who have had experience with contagious diseases. Among those selected is Miss Maggie Ferrington, who has been housekeeper for Richard Mansfield, the actor, for the past ten years. She says she cares nothing for the pay, but feels she has a mission to go among the stricken.

NO NEW CASES.

The Board of Health this morning issued the following bulletin:

NEW YORK, Sept. 15, 10 a.m.—During the past forty-eight hours there were no new suspected cases reported to this department. The suspected cases of Charlotte Beck of 1764 Second Avenue, and Peter Calahan of 319 East Forty-eighth street, heretofore noted, are under investigation.

By order of the Board of Health:

CHARLES E. LILLON, President.

EMERSON CLARK, Secretary.

CORNER IN DISINFECTION.

All chemical compounds which are supposed to be preventives of contagious or infectious diseases, such as cholera, have advanced in price this week, and they are expected to reach still higher figures.

This is especially true of chloride of lime, which is used in disinfecting agents.

Wholesale dealers who a short time ago paid importers 2.15 cents for chloride of lime now pay 24 cents, which is an advance of more than 25 per cent. The importers dealers sell to the retailers at an advance of about 75 per cent, and the retailers have raised their prices to the public nearly 100 per cent.

It is easy to control the price of this article which has suddenly become so important to the public. Chloride of lime, which is the chief chlorine used in this country is imported, coming from England. In ordinary years the imports amount to about 40,000,000 pounds, which may be indefinitely increased through the alarm caused by cholera.

Formerly there were a great many establishments in England and Scotland engaged in the sale of lime. Later on all were consolidated into the United Alkali Co. and now a single English corporation controls the entire chlorine production in this country.

DISEASED CATTLE.

They Were Concealed in Weeds Near Vandeventer and Lindell Avenues.

TEXAS FEVER REPORTED BY THE AUTHORITIES TO BE PREVALENT.

Cows Taken by Dairymen to a Secluded Spot to Prevent the Inspectors From Finding Out That the Animals Were Diseased—Most Inspector Finn Interviews on the Situation.

Texas fever or some other equally fatal malady has attacked cattle in the West End, and in the past three days nine cattle have succumbed to the disease and two more are dying. This spread of a fatal disease has been known to the Health Department since Monday, but up to noon to-day nothing has been done to put a stop to the disease or to investigate the cause of it.

The plague spot is on Vandeventer avenue and the Lindell boulevard. There is a large vacant lot on Vandeventer avenue, running for several blocks west of the north side of Lindell. It is overgrown with tall weeds and high grasses, and is used by people in the neighborhood who own cows as a pasture. Last Sunday morning five cows were seen to enter the west end of the lot and commence grazing there. The driver or boy accompanied the cows, and the fact that they were strange cows attracted attention to them. They appeared to be healthy cattle but Monday morning one was found dead near the road half hidden in the weeds. One of the boys who drives cows to the pasture every day saw the cow and notified a policeman, as the odor given off by the dead animal was very strong. About six hours later, the boy again visited the spot and found that the cow he believed to be the same cow in the lot were going to die as they were driving at the mouth and were hardly able to move. During the day three more of the strange cases dropped down in the weeds and died.

DISCOVERED IN THE SPOT.—The weeds all over this lot are very high and in some places are higher than a man's head. The cows sought the shade of the trees when about to die, and were not discovered until Tuesday by the overpowering stench. The cows which were usually pastured in the lot were sick and died before Wednesday morning. The weeds on the stables of their owners as soon as they were driven home. Not until the next day were the dead animals discovered.

Numerous letters and telegrams of sympathy with the President have been received.

MRS. HARRISON'S CONDITION.

Better To-Day, But Not Entirely Out of Danger.

LOON LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Very slight change for the better was noticeable in the condition of Mrs. Harrison this morning, Dr. Gardner made an examination.

He found no large accumulation of the watery matter in the thoracic cavity and he decided that another tapping would not be necessary. The fluid sometimes collects very rapidly and it is liable to fill the cavity in two or three hours. To prevent fatal results from this source requires constant watching, and Dr. Gardner keeps almost constantly near the room of Mrs. Harrison. Greater danger is now threatened from the filling of the thoracic cavity than from any other source.

Mrs. Harrison passed a restless night, but she is in a better condition this morning than she has for the last several days. Her nervous condition has prevented her from sleeping soundly. There was, therefore, no exertion to the general rule of her condition during the time she spent in bed yesterday. Dr. Gardner made no prediction as to the probable outcome of the disease from which his patient is suffering. Mrs. Harrison, he says, is in an excellent condition, and further than that he will say nothing.

Yesterday Dr. Gardner, Dr. Dougherty, and Dr. Tracy considered the case of Mrs. Harrison and recommended her removal from Loon Lake, but they decided that such an attempt would probably be attended by fatal results.

According to the weak condition of the patient a journey from the Harrison cottage to any place on the nearest railroad would be extremely difficult. The roads are bad and the weather is still very cool.

There is hardly any possibility that Mrs. Harrison will be removed from Loon Lake, however, unless under unusual circumstances, and better in every way. The doctors say, if improvement should set in, it will be held in view to celebrate a grand ceremony and recommend that it be celebrated by fitting ceremonies.

Mrs. Harrison is a woman of great energy and resource, and further than that he will say nothing.

According to the weak condition of the patient a journey from the Harrison cottage to any place on the nearest railroad would be extremely difficult. The roads are bad and the weather is still very cool.

There is hardly any possibility that Mrs. Harrison will be removed from Loon Lake, however, unless under unusual circumstances, and better in every way. The doctors say, if improvement should set in, it will be held in view to celebrate a grand ceremony and recommend that it be celebrated by fitting ceremonies.

Mrs. Harrison is a woman of great energy and resource, and further than that he will say nothing.

Yesterday Dr. Gardner, Dr. Dougherty, and Dr. Tracy considered the case of Mrs. Harrison and recommended her removal from Loon Lake, but they decided that such an attempt would probably be attended by fatal results.

NEED PROTECTION.

Why the People's Party Ignores the Omaha Resolution.

A FAIR COUNT CANNOT BE HAD WITHOUT FEDERAL MARSHALS.

Chairman Taubeneck Claims His Party Does Not Get the Benefit of All Its Votes—A Conference at Birmingham To Day—The Warner-Filley Meeting Last Night—General Political.

J. H. Turner, Secretary of the National Executive Committee of the People's party, left Tuesday for Georgia, to enter upon his canvass for Congress in the Seventh District, and to-day is conferring with Gens. Warner and Field in Birmingham, Ala., where a convention is being held to nominate an electoral ticket. It appears that quite a number of the leaders of the People's party in the South are opposed to asking for Federal supervision, inasmuch as supplementary resolutions inserted in the Omaha convention provide that:

Resolved, That we demand a free ballot and a fair count in all elections, and pledge ourselves to support every legal measure to effect our representation through the adoption by the State of the unrepresented Australian, or secret ballot, system.

At the State election held in Arkansas some days ago the election was held under the Australian ballot-box system, and it was ascertained that Carruthers, the People's party candidate for Governor, had been defeated a cry was sent up for Federal supervision, as the People's party had been counted out, and fear was entertained that every Southern State would be treated in a like manner at the November election. Accordinging to a meeting of the National Executive Committee, Dr. Barthold and Collector Zeigelheim will very probably preside, Filley sent word to Dr. Barthold he would attend the meeting and if requested would have a few remarks to make.

The opening speech will be delivered by Fred. Barthold and Collector Zeigelheim will very probably preside, Filley sent word to Dr. Barthold he would attend the meeting and if requested would have a few remarks to make.

Ex-Committeeman Charles Claudius of the Fifth Ward, who at the last meeting gave his proxy to another Fifth Warder and proclaimed that he was disgusted with the management of the campaign was at the city hospital and had a long conversation with Secretary Rohlinz. He said that it was true that he was a Democrat for office and explained that he did so before he was made a member of city committee.

"After I was put in the organization," he said, "I did all I could for every Republican candidate."

The physician in attendance upon Fred Murphy stated this afternoon that Murphy had recovered.

Circulating Peck's Report.

The Republican State Committee headquarters was a busy workshop this morning. Something like 100,000 copies of Labor Commissioner of New York Peck's report were received for distribution throughout the State. Peck is the appointee of ex-Gov. Hill in New York, who gathered a lot of statistics from protected manufacturers to sustain the claim of Republican contractors that to a large extent they pay more than the national average. The National Republican Committee has had several million copies published for general distribution.

Political Notes.

E. J. Pete of the Twentieth Ward has retired from the race for a Democratic Legislator.

The Clayton road Democratic Club effected an organization last evening with the following officers: J. J. William, President; Frank Ornsby, Vice-President; James P. Keogh, Secretary, and William Hartnett, Treasurer. About 100 men were enrolled. Speeches were made by Sterling Bond, William P. Macklin, Dr. William C. Green and D. Castlemain Webb. The club met Saturday evening at 4621 Clayton road.

Carl Olfert of the Collector's office has put stop to all recruiting in the Twentieth Ward and the State Committees chose to protect the interest of the party by Federal supervision. We are not yet in a position to say why. The State election will be held in October, and it is now well known that we should carry that State by 20,000 majority and elect at least ten Congressmen. There is a probability of losing the State, but being conservative, what will we do? We cannot afford to sit down and see the earth moved away from us without making some kind of a resistance. We must do something to stop this around and see it done either. The United States Government might as well appoint about sixteen states in several districts, and we should states to have the various offices filled and cast the electoral vote without holding an election, as quite a number of the states in the south are controlled by us. They will notice a marked change in November, as we propose to be heard from, and we will have our hands counted or you will hear something drop."

Warner and Filley Spoke.

After all the silk stockings who have been fighting Filley, Wencker and the hoodwink wing of the Republican machine have to look to that contingent to get up meetings and make some show of enthusiasm. Last night's Republican rally at North St. Louis Turner Hall, Twenty-first and Salsbury streets, was a case in point. The demonstration arrangements and managed by the eliminated wing of the party. Collector Wencker opened it and George Niedringhaus took his place in the chair. The hall, which will comfortably hold about twelve hundred persons, was jammed from stage to doors, and even the back room was full. The crowd cheered one as much as the other. It was "the ole man's" first appearance in a Republican meeting since he was removed. The Nineteenth Ward Harrison Club will meet to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock sharp, and expect him to speak again. Don't stir. They will meet every Friday evening at the same place. This is their first meeting.

LEONARD NOONAN.

union immediately interested in Typographia No. 3, General Society, and that body is getting ready to serve notice upon the Democratic party that unless the Ansteiger is unionized Mr. Kehr may not expect the votes of workers.

The scheme was outlined at a meeting of the Trades and Labor Union last night.

Typographia, No. 3, and for the appointment of a committee to accompany the committee to the headquarters of the machine and make a demand that organized labor be put into the Ansteiger. The Ansteiger, Mr. Kehr might depend upon the energetic opposition of the working people.

The suggestion elicited a sharp debate. It was open to the Ansteiger to contemplate political action, which the constitution of the body forbade, and another ground of objection was that the departmental committee in the purpose of their work, which would likely to do so only under an implied pledge that in exchange for the unionization of the Ansteiger Kehr would accept the demands of the workingmen. Several delegates opposed placing the Trades and Labor Union in a position so unpromising.

Mr. Kehr, however, the committee was ordered by a vote of 33 to 11, and Messrs. Blackmored, Webster, Bonnell, Connolly and Neumark, were appointed as members thereof.

Expect a Big Meeting.

Maj. Warner left the city this morning for St. Charles, where he speaks to-night with Rudolph Mueller, the nominee for Lieutenant Governor. He will return to the city to-morrow morning to attend the big rally in South St. Louis to-morrow night.

The meeting will in all probability be the largest in the city end of the Republican State canvass.

It will be Warner's first speech in South St. Louis. All the clubs in South St. Louis have agreed to turn out, and the meeting.

Weather forecast for thirty-six hours, beginning at 8 a.m. to-day, for Missouri: Fairly warm in the morning, slightly cooler in the afternoon. The pressure is low in Upper St. Lawrence Valley and relatively high in the Southern States and in the Dakotas. Rain has occurred on the lower lakes, in the Northeastern States and Eastern Florida; elsewhere the weather is fair and generally cloudy. The temperature has risen during the day. The Mississippi River from Vicksburg, S. D., to Kansas City and the fall in North Dakota and Manitoba; slight changes elsewhere; killing frost occurred at Moorhead.

Weather forecast for thirty-six hours, beginning at 8 a.m. to-day, for St. Louis: Fair; nearly stationary temperature.

The cholera has an able ally in this city in "de push."

ALTHOUGH of bacteriological proportions, there once was a Republican party in Texas.

THERE were too many flies on the New York quarantine. Probably there are flies on all quarantines.

MRS. BLAINE told Mr. Harrison that he would not get a second term. Mr. Blaine is not doing anything to discredit his wife as a prophetess.

MR. CLEVELAND has never feared to speak his mind on any subject. It will be time to discuss his letter of acceptance when it appears.

The Council's fruitless special session last night compels us to repeat with reference to the Mayor the famous Congressional question: "Where was he at?"

ALTHOUGH Mr. Blaine wrote a letter in favor of the Republican party, he refused to vote for Harrison. The force of example is greater than the force of advice.

THE Republicans of Missouri recognize the true nature of Peck's report and what it was compiled for. They propose to use it extensively as a campaign document.

ONE of the local morning papers, speaking of filth in St. Louis, says there are "courts that have not been cleaned in years." The Four Courts for instance.

EX-SPEAKER REED forgot Candidate Harrison during the Maine canvass, and the returns indicate that the people of his district are preparing to forget Mr. Reed.

THE cholera germ is harmless in a healthy person and cannot flourish in a clean city. The point is obvious to both individual citizens and municipal authorities.

THE Democratic State Central Committee can meet the Republican distribution of Peck's public report by the distribution of his private letter in which he gave his report the lie.

WE miss a reference to the taxation of foreigners for the benefit of the United States in the report of Mr. McKinley's Ellwood speech. Has he found the dodge unprofitable as he did his cheap and nasty arguments?

THE prayer of the Rev. "Sin-killer" Griffin in the Texan Republican Convention for Judge Clark may not secure him the blessing of God, but it will certainly assure him the condemnation of a big majority of Texans.

OUR municipal authorities have been warned of the approach of cholera and informed of the post-breeding spots. There is no excuse for dereliction in the work of cleaning the city and preparing for a fight against the plague.

THE most that a quarantine can do is to check the advance of the plague and prevent deadly ravages such as have made

Hamburg a charnel house. Cholera has appeared in New York in spite of every effort suggested by medical and sanitary science. It now becomes a problem of individual interest, and whether or not the plague spreads depends upon the intelligence and habits of the people. Happily it is possible for one to quarantine one's own stomach, and soap and carbolic acid are cheap notwithstanding the tariff.

In order to afford efficient aid to the municipal authorities in the work of cleaning the city as a measure of cholera prevention, the Post-Dispatch suggested and adopted, with the endorsement of the Mayor and health officials, a plan of citizens' sanitary inspection. All citizens were called upon to send to the Post-Dispatch reports of pest and disease-breeding conditions coming within their observation or knowledge. Prompt and numerous responses were received. Hundreds of reports have been published and turned over to the Health Department. Many complaints have been received that no attention has been paid to those reports. In view of the fact that cholera has actually invaded the country and the urgency of preventive measures for this city, we ask citizens who have sent in reports of unclean and unsanitary conditions to report again what if any attention has been paid to their reports and what if any cleaning work has been done. We call on all citizens who have knowledge of dereliction in sanitary inspection or work to report it. Promptness and accuracy in this matter are of the utmost importance, so that it may be positively known as soon as possible if the health officials are doing efficient work, and if not, that immediate measures may be taken to meet the emergency.

DR. THOMAS O'REILLY presents in today's Post-Dispatch some novel views of the cholera, which will doubtless create a lively discussion in the medical fraternity. It is the subject now of greatest prominence and importance in the civilized world, and all the light that can be thrown upon it is both interesting and valuable.

ST. LOUIS would be assured of safety from the cholera invasion if they could be assured of the efficiency of municipal officials. But there is nothing in the conduct of the work of cleaning the city that gives this assurance.

THAT ORACULAR utterance from the Temple of Truth simplifies the task of the Republican managers. All they have to do is to induce Republican voters to go to the polls "in the same numbers as they often did formerly."

BUSINESS INTERESTS.

From the New York World.

The business men of this country have seen Grover Cleveland in the White House for four years and they know that he can be trusted to protect their interests.

How is it with his successor?

President Harrison found a surplus of $100,000,000 in the National Treasury. He will leave a deficiency of an equal amount.

Is this good business?

He found the taxes at the war standard after nearly a quarter of a century of peace and a strong public demand for their reduction. He has signed a bill increasing these taxes in eleven of the thirteen states schedules.

Is this just business?

He found the country suffering from the evils of a compulsory coinage of light-weight silver dollars.

He has signed a bill which is flooding the country with paper substitutes for these deficient dollars based upon silver that has greatly depreciated in value since its issuance.

Cholera germs must be swallowed to produce disease, and Sir Edwin affirms, and the affirmation is supported by scientific conclusions, that the germs are innocuous in the sound organs of a healthy person. In short, only the physically unfit are seized by the scourge, whereas the physically sound may defy it.

Sir Edwin does not belittle the terrors of the disease when it is allowed to gain a hold upon one, although it can be cured, nor does he undervalue precautionary measures. The preventive measures he suggests have been tried with varying success amidst the worst forms of the disease, but are perfectly simple and may be easily adopted by all. They include a simple diet of wholesome food, clean and well-cooked, cleanliness as to person and surroundings, boiled water and milk and care as to health. The slightest tendency to bowel trouble should be corrected at once. Sir Edwin's precautionary dose consists of five drops of hydrochloric acid in his morning tea.

It is reassuring to learn from one who knows by actual observation and experience that cholera can be robbed of its terrors, that it can be prevented and cured. Prevention is the main thing and the means of prevention are care and cleanliness. The entrance of the plague into this country should not cause unreasonable fear, but should merely stimulate municipal officials and individuals to prompt and vigorous preventive efforts.

MAYOR AND COLLECTOR.

When the City Collector disregards the law in licensing saloons and frankly tells the City Council about his systematic violation of law, and the Council neither removes him from office nor tells him to "go and sin no more," he has a right to assume that the Council is as hostile to the law as he is and fully approves his illegal course. When the courts also ignore and non-prosecute the complaints of outraged citizens and the legal penalties for his misfeasance in office are not inflicted, such a situation should teach all voters that their city is the victim of a very powerful official combination against the enforcement of the laws.

The existence and power of such a combination are further attested when the Mayor can, without rebuke from the Council or arraignment before any court, remain drunk and incapacitated a large part of his time or go about with or without a body-guard of toughs seeking mighty bar-room brawls and fights that are duly reported in the papers, but never heard of in the courts.

A Mayor who is frequently drunk and disorderly in the most quiet times is not to be believed.

THE most that a quarantine can do is to check the advance of the plague and prevent deadly ravages such as have made be trusted with the control of such a city as ours in times of great public danger. Danger is always present when authority and power are so misplaced.

But the public can no more look to the Council for protection in the case of the Mayor than in the case of the law-breaking Collector. The courts might inflict fines and imprisonment on both of them, but are run by a combination of their friends and refuse to do it. The Council by a two-thirds vote might remove both or either of them from office, but in the Council also a combination of their friends is strong enough to protect both Mayor and Collector and the people can do nothing but submit to the situation as it is until the elections afford them an opportunity to change it.

The fact that Collector Ziegenhein's organ has recently begun a series of attacks on the Mayor is no proof that the combination is broken. It is only an ante-election maneuver having reference to a new shuffle and deal of the combination cards. Ziegenhein, Republican, in the Collector's office and Noonan, Democrat, in the Mayor's will continue to rule the municipal roost in joyous harmony, not only to the end of the present administration, but until the people rise in their might and wreck the combination machine which controls both party organizations in this city.

The State law provides for the fining and imprisonment of any State, county, city, town or township officer for various malfeasances, and for being drunk while in the discharge of an official duty or for being incapacitated by intoxication for the discharge of any official duty. It also provides that the courts may deprive such an offender of his office, "if there be no provision made by law for his removal by impeachment." As there is a legal provision for the removal of the Mayor and City Collector by a two-thirds vote of the Council, that body, and not the courts, must be held responsible for Collector Ziegenhein's continued violations of law, and for the Mayor's also. The courts can fine or imprison them, but cannot remove them from office.

DEMOCRATIC HOSTS.

Stevenson Addresses Thousands in the Old North State.

INQUIRIES OF THE REPUBLICAN FORCE BILL LAID BARE.

Gov. Boies Opens the Campaign in Iowa
Fallacy of Protection Exposed—Why the Farmer Has Been Working for Nothing—Meeting of the Republican Club League in Buffalo.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 15.—To-day the Democracy of the old North State assembled here in thousands to hear Hon. A. E. Stevens, candidate for Vice-president. Preparations had been made to entertain a large crowd, but the gathering hosts exceeded all expectations. This is practically the opening of the campaign in this State, and representatives from every county and congressional district were present. From the minute of Mr. Stevenson's arrival on the State's border he received every attention due an honored guest. The committee of reception have done their duty well, and there is no hitch in the arrangements. He was escorted from his hotel by distinguished citizens of North Carolina in carriages and a large procession of mounted men from the country and adjacent to Asheville. Gen. Stevenson was introduced by Hon. C. W. Davis and the distinguished members of North Carolina, and when he rose to speak there was a prolonged applause, continuing several minutes. Gen. Stevenson began by paying a handsome tribute to North Carolina, saying that her history and traditions were as dear to him as any one present. He then said:

"FELLOW CITIZENS—it would be impossible to overstate the importance of the pending political contest especially to the people of the South. Who shall be elected President of the United States, or who shall be elected Vice-president, will affect questions of taxation and of economy in public expenditures. The question is of deeper import and more far-reaching than any other. Shall they have peace and protection to life and to property and the prosperity which results from the right administration of the States by their own people, or shall the evils which they are now experiencing be increased? The present contest is between the Republic and the Democratic parties, and either of these great organizations will be successful and will control the policy of the Government for the next four years. What is the practical question now is, Will you have your State Government remain in the hands of your own people, or will it be given to another party?"

"You have so soon forgotten the sad lessons of the past?—Address myself to those who form an audience here. You are a noble party, but who incite you to cast in their political fortunes with a party which has been abominable without hope of success in the pending contest? Either Mr. Harrison or Mr. Cleveland will be the next President, and whichever party wins will control the next Congress. Of necessity then, your choices must be either to remain with the party which I have mentioned, or to support the Executive Committee, and J. S. Carroll from deputies in order to make such inspection. Should the election officers fail promptly to do this, the law requires that they do so, administer the oath and receive the ballot. They are created sole judges of the election, and their decision there is no appeal. The inspectors appointed by the Republicans are to be held in their offices for life. Under the extraordinary powers given by this bill, the election of representatives in Congress, the control of such elections passes from the hands of the people to all cities having a population of 20,000 or upwards. It applies to county and congressional districts, and it may be, it would call into its service at every polling place federal supervisors, to the lowest deputy marshal entrusted with the enforcement of the laws, and under Federal authority. The people, the source of all political power under our constitution, have no rights, and the people are to be controlled under the provisions of this bill can sport at will with their dearest rights."

"The bill in every line and paragraph is against the principles of local self-government. It would be difficult to find on any page of our history a more daring claim of all power in the Federal Government. No single officer entrusted with its execution is selected by the people. The appointment of chief supervisors, to the lowest deputy marshal entrusted with the enforcement of the laws, is under Federal authority. The people, the source of all political power under our constitution, have no rights, and the people are to be controlled under the provisions of this bill can sport at will with their dearest rights."

"As I have said, while this bill is intended as a temporary measure, it may be put into operation in every Congressional district in the United States. Aside from the disregard of local government and of the sanctity of homes, its expense would be enormous. The cost of maintaining it would be, I suppose, $100,000,000 per annum. It may be, it would call into its service at every polling place federal supervisors, to the lowest deputy marshal entrusted with the enforcement of the laws, and under Federal authority. The people, the source of all political power under our constitution, have no rights, and the people are to be controlled under the provisions of this bill can sport at will with their dearest rights."

CARROLL, Io., Sept. 15.—Gov. The Governor had an immense audience and his appearance on the platform was a signal to the press that the question is, Will you have your State Government remain in the hands of your own people, or will it be given to another party?"

Gen. Stevenson's remarks on the force bill were followed by a discussion of the tariff similar in substance to his previous speeches on that subject.

FAILURE OF THE SPECIAL SESSION.

Mayor Noordanus' Dereliction Causes a Troublesome Situation.

The members of the Board of Public Improvements wore an air of disappointment and one or two of them waxed indignant in their remarks this morning while commenting on the failure of the special session of the Municipal Assembly called by the Mayor's proclamation for last evening.

The Mayor had stated the object of the special session in his proclamation, but failed to supplement it by sending in a list of the contracts for public improvements which were to be acted on.

The Council had a quorum present and was ready for business, but the House of Delegates made a handsome showing of three members out of twenty-eight. As the Council had not been authorized meeting without the House being in session, the Mayor's dereliction cut no important part in the result. This is the third time all the contracts passed by the Board of Public Improvements in the Council on Sept. 27, the date fixed for reassembling, and therefore necessitates a delay in the work of street and sewer construction for about two weeks.

If you want your fall suit for early fall wear, then order it to-day—not delay until the last minute, but place your order at once in our Custom Department. We are ready with the largest stock of select fabrics for fall wear ever shown in St. Louis.

The Late Frank Gerdes.

Mr. Frank Gerdes, whose will was admitted to probate yesterday, was not the Mexican who was killed at a dance, but a well-known resident of St. Louis. Mr. Gerdes was a salesman for a large wholesale house here, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He left all his property to his wife, except to each of his children.

The Electropose.

No remedy such good results, effect such marvelous cures, or numbers among its advocates people of such high social standing as the Electropose. It is convincing people everywhere that it is the best thing in the world for the treatment of disease, and a trial will force the most prejudiced to say that it possesses more merit than any other known method.

REAL ESTATE INTERESTS.

CHICAGO OPERATORS INVEST $110,000 IN THE ST. LOUIS SUBURBS.

The Deal Closed With a Profit of $45,000
—Property at the Northeast Corner of Seventh and Pine Sold for $100,000.

A party of Chicago real estate operators and builders who have done a large business in that city during the past three years, but who have been looking for a more profitable field to work in than it has proven for a year past, have consummated the purchase of a frontage of 11,000 feet of St. Louis suburban property for $110,000. They are going to work immediately to build it up with first-class dwellings adapted to the requirements of the locality.

This is one of the largest sales of suburban property ever made in St. Louis, even consumed, and the fact that the purchasers are experienced real estate operators in Chicago may be taken as pretty good evidence of the value and possible development of the property over that of the World's Fair city from a money-making standpoint.

The transaction was arranged by J. E. Truitt, who has been in Chicago during the past month negotiating the deal in the interest of the Mathews Sharp Real Estate Co. Last week the Chicago operators, who came when a critical examination of the property was made and conferences had regarding its value and possible development with various real estate operators in St. Louis.

Returning to Chicago, Mr. Truitt closed the deal, one-half the money having been paid in cash, the balance to be arranged for in time of conquest. The buyers are Alfred Borgessson, Loren A. Barnes and George Boyer.

The land they bought at $10 a front foot comprises fifty-two acres of what is to be a part of the Marshall farm, northwest of Webster Park, and at the farthest about six miles from the city. It is located on a station on the Missouri Pacific Railway, about eleven miles west of the city.

This property used to be owned by J. E. Truitt, who has been in Chicago during the past month negotiating the deal in the interest of the Mathews Sharp Real Estate Co.

ST. LOUIS, THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 15, 1892.

THE LOCAL SWIM.

Cool Weather Has Brought the Summer Sojourners Home.

THE STREETS ARE ONCE MORE THRONGED WITH FASHIONABLE PEOPLE.

Weddings Which Took Place Yesterday—Numerous Marriages in High Life Set for This and Next Month—Entertainments Being Given and Other News of the World of Fashion.

The cool weather is having the effect of hastening the lagging St. Louisans home from their summer retreats. For the past two weeks they have been shivering over fire by the lakes and seaside, longing for their coats and mufflers again. On the streets it has been an uncommon thing during the past week to see the gay blues in summer attire with fur capes about their shoulders or boas about their throats; rather incongruous, to be sure, but pretty and effective without.

SIGAPORE-SWORTZCOPE.

Miss Katie Swortzcope, daughter of Mrs. J. L. Taggart, formerly Mrs. M. J. Swortzope, was quietly married yesterday afternoon to Mr. Thomas H. Sigapure, at the residence of the bride's mother, No. 2621 Olive street, the Rev. Dr. Matthews officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Minnie Swortzope, and Mr. Edwin Langworth acted as best man. An informal reception followed after the ceremony, and the bride was the happy recipient of many handsome presents.

HOLT-SILVA.

Quite a novel wedding took place in Mt. Vernon, Ill., last evening, the contracting parties being Mr. Elmer C. Holt of the King's Comedy company, who are playing a week's engagement in this city, and Miss Lura Silva of 502 Gates avenue, St. Louis. The most unique feature of the affair was that they were married in a room of the Hotel Opera house just before the curtain arose for the first act. A large crowd was present, nearly every seat in the house being sold.

SEARS-SCHAFER.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Second Presbyterian Church, Seventeenth and Lucas place, last evening at 8 o'clock. The bride was Miss Nannie L. Schafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schafer of 3007 Morgan street, and the bridegroom Mr. Fred Sears of this city.

The bride was attired in a lovely robe of cream white faille, made of a fine gauze and handsomely trimmed with a full ruffie of rich lace, the V cut corsage and half sleeves being finished with a small lace. The train of the lace was fastened to the high collar with diamond clasps, and fell away from the face in graceful folds at the back.

The bride wore diamond ornaments and carried a bouquet of lily-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Jessie Biddle of Chicago, was a trim blonde, wearing a white chintz dress trimmed with pink roses and she wore a bunch of the same flowers caught in the braids of her dark hair.

Miss Eva Dyer of St. Louis was the groom's best man.

The bridegroom, who were all gowned alike in white, and carried La France roses, were Miss Anna Chipley, Miss Ann Massie, and Miss Meyer.

The ushers were Messrs. H. S. Souter, H. Wilson, C. Snowden and E. C. Donly.

A quiet wedding took place on the wedding ceremony at the family residence on Morgan street.

O'KEEFE-GLEASON.

The marriage of Miss Catherine Gleason and Mr. J. D. O'Keeffe was the occasion of a large gathering of young people at St. Leo's Catholic Church last evening, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. Fathers Harry and O'Brien.

The bride was attended by her grandmother, Mrs. Christy, in her travels through Europe, returned last week by the United States.

Miss Daisy Brown of Kirkwood, who has been spending the summer with Mrs. Ben Gratz of the Atlantic Coast, has returned to her sister, Miss Maggie Gleason, and the group by her brother, Mr. K. K. Gleason, the best man, and Messrs. R. E. Tunstall, men. Little Laura and Agnes O'Reilly will be flower girls.

The marriage of Miss Sada Sells to Dr. Edward Gregory, Jr., is set for Oct. 1.

Miss Jeannette January's marriage to Mr. Howard Elliott is set for the 20th of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Phillips issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lillian Phillips, to Mr. Ernest Kroehle, which will take place on Wednesday, set. In the meantime, the ceremony will be followed by a reception at the family residence, No. 1028 Park avenue. The bridegroom is expected to be the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

The attendants at the wedding will be Miss Anna Kebrmann, daughter of Mr. Statius Kebrmann, Sr., who will be maid of honor, and Mr. Edward Hall, who will serve as the groom's best man. This will be an occasion of unusual interest and the opening of the gay season in high German circles.

Miss Alice A. Slaback has issued cards for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Minnie to Mr. Edward Edwards, on Sept. 26 at 6 o'clock, at St. John's M. E. Church, South, Twenty-ninth and Locust streets.

SCOTLAND'S MUSIC.

Melodies of the Land of the Thistle
To-Night.

AN IMMENSE THROAT EXPECTED TO VISIT THE EXPOSITION.

The First Week of the Great Show Closes With a Most Satisfactory Attendance—Last Night the First Batch of Art Catalogues Arrived and Were Distributed—Exposition News.

To-night is Scotch night, and as usual there is an immense attendance. A splendid musical programme has been arranged by Gilmore, and lovers of Scotch music will enjoy a treat.

The Art Gallery is getting to be a more popular department of the big Exposition every day. It is invariably crowded by the lovers of esthetic displays and much credit is given the management for arranging such a splendid exhibit.

Mr. N. A. Coale received the first installment of the year's catalogue for the Art Gallery last night. A great many persons were waiting for them and they were disposed of like hot cakes. The delay in getting out the catalogue was caused by the late arrival of a great many paintings which Mr. Coale thought should be placed in the body of the catalogue and not in an appendix. The pictures have been distributed throughout the gallery and it may now be said to be complete. There are a few paintings, however, which have yet to be delivered. They are expected to arrive in two weeks' time by freight and have not yet arrived. Mr. Coale says the pictures are worth $60,000 and are beauties. A tracing is being made for them and they will be on the walls in a few days.

Visitors to the Ex. on special nights set aside for social and nationalities will be surprised, perhaps, on failing to see some demonstration or ceremony peculiar to the society or nation represented on the stage. This evening, for instance, the Scotch, whom Gilmore's band is seated this year. There are 100 men, and for the leader to be seen by this immense band, it is necessary to have a platform. A movable platform has been erected with five steps, and on this most of the Scotch are seated throughout the south end of the big hall. The band has moved so far forward that the platform on which Prof. Gilmore stands is out of the lights. Soloists and soloists in duos, etc., their way to the front platform without having ever entered the orchestra seats. As move this big band, Manger Genniss has done not to give the stage for any demonstration, but for speech making, and any kind of display. The band is seated in the band occupied by the band. Banners, flags and decorations on special nights for ornamenting the stage are desirable.

Last night closed the first week of the Exposition, and like the opening night there was a splendid gathering present. The crowds poured in through all the big doors and windows, and before the maddening Gilmore and his band were ready to open the night concert. The music was up to the Gilmorian standard and everybody was pleased.

Following is the programme for this evening:

1. Scotch overture—"Land of Myths and Clouds,"—Hamlin MacCunn
2. Song—"Douglas Gordon,"—Kelloe
3. Scotch Dance—"The Piping Friar,"—Gentry
4. "Bonnie Dundee,"—The Flowers of Edinburgh
5. "Willie's Gone to Melville Castle,"—Muirland
6. "Lassie Come Home,"—Muirland
7. "We Will Take the Good Way,"—Highland Fling,
8. "Charlie Charlie's New Away,"—Sullivan
9. "The Highland Chord,"—Ernest H. Clarke
10. Scotch Dance—"Lassie Come Thro' the Ayre,"—Wadsworth
11. Ballad—"A Scotch Lassie,"—Urlich
12. Grand selection—"Macbeth,"—Verdi
13. Quartet—"The Queen of Sheba,"—Bishop Messer Weston, Hollisbeck, Miss, and Zium
14. "Godfrey Laddie,"—John Anderson, Mr. John Logie o' Buchan, "Green Grow the Rushes, O,"—The British of Auction, "Auld Lang Syne,"—Within Mile o' Edinburgh, "Bonnie Blue,"—Blue Beets, "Tullochorum," "Auld Lang Syne."

Exposition Notes.

I. L. BAKER's program at the Exposition is as follows:

The man that gladdens the hearts of the orphans is entitled to heaven, and Baker did that to-day.

L. W. Wadsworth's lemonade at the Exposition is sweet and fragrant watered tea. We invite our public inspection.

Friday night, commencing next week, will be "society night," and the music will be confined to classic selections.

The visiting O. K. A. men were well received at to-night's concert, and they were all pleased with the music and attractive exhibits.

The solos are increasing in popularity. Gilmore's solos are very popular, and their efforts to please the admiring crowds.

In the second half of to-night's concert Mr. F. W. Wadsworth, a prime favorite, will give one of his famous "Thro' the Eye" with variations.

Nadia carolines are the talk of the town.

Their popularity is increasing from day to day. Only manufactured by one house in the world, and that is the Wenneker, Morrisson Co.

Go to the north nave and see how many articles of kitchen use there are you never heard of before. The wrought iron range and cutlery are the talk of the town.

The Christmas tree with its hundred miniature electric lights, displayed by the Wenneker, Morrisson Co., is a sight to behold, especially so to the little folks.

Parents should not fail to let their children see it.

I. L. BAKER's candies and taffies are the most delicious and pure ever offered at the Exposition.

The "Salvation Army March" was played last night at the request of a Kansas delegation to the Catholic Knights State Convention and was encored twice, and was the greatest hit Prof. Gilmore has ever made with his encore pieces.

A ROYAL WEDDING.

DUKE ALBERT AND ARCHDUCHESS MARIA GRET TO WED.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—Another one of the young future sovereigns of Europe has decided to take him a wife. To be sure, the kingdom over which he will be called upon to reign is not a very big one, being simply that of Wurtemburg. The bridegroom-elect is the young Duke Albert, son of Duke Alexander, second cousin to the late King, and of Maria Theresa, Archduchess of Austria. He is just 22. She is the daughter of the younger brother of the Emperor of Austria, the Archduke Charles Louis, who is his heir apparent to the Austrian throne; so the young gentleman may be considered as making a very brilliant match. The youthful pair are related, but in a distant degree, so there can be no objection to their union on the ground of consanguinity. However, there are some drawbacks to the match similar to those that exist in the marriage of Prince Ferdinand of Roumania and the Princess Mary of Edinburgh, the two to say the least, are certain of succeeding to the crown to which he is recognized here. So far as Prince Ferdinand is concerned, there is always the possibility of the death of Queen Elizabeth of Roumania, and of the second marriage and probable offspring of the present King. The chances are that Duke Albert will be a mercurial. In the first place, King William of Wurtemburg is only 44, and his Queen, who is a second wife, is 28, so although she has so far remained childless it is by no means an impossibility that she may yet give to Wurtemburg a long-desired heir in the direct line. Secondly, the question of the eligible groom's fitness is complicated with the claims of two nearer relatives of the King, to say nothing of those of his own father. To be sure they are all old men, and he is the only young prince existing in the family in the position of Duke, with the exception of his own younger brothers.

The Archduchess Margaret is both pretty and accomplished. She is a fragile-looking blonde, with a slender, willowy figure, a delicate complexion and very expressive eyes. She has just recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever, caught by going on a pilgrimage to Gravenstein, where she witnessed a solemn exhibition of the Holy Coat. As she is extremely popular in Vienna, the churches, during her illness, were crowded with worshippers who came to pray for the recovery of the charming Princess. Like all the daughters of Imperial House of Austria she is a highly educated person fluent in the principal languages of Modern Europe, paints in water colors and performs brilliantly on the piano. Also she is a talented actress, her gifts in that line finding scope on the stage of the small private theater attached to the Chateau of Wortholz, which is the summer residence of the Emperor. The famous German actor, Sonnenburg, has called upon frequently to arrange and direct the performances at Wortholz, and he has been heard to declare that the Princess Margaret was the most gifted of the members of that high-born troupe in which she excelled with that of the ingenues.

In spite of these tastes and talents and these worldly diversions, to say nothing of her approaching marriage, the young Archduchess is an abess and a perfectly authentic one at that, her uncle, the Emperor, having given her the title of Archduchess of the Habsburg Convent of noble ladies at Prague.

These positions, which involve neither the pronouncing of the vows nor seclusion from the world, are always conferred by the reigning sovereigns of Catholic Germany and Austria on their female relatives.

The incident of the visit of the French

Archduchess Margaret to the convent of Fried schin Convent itself is one of the prettiest of the English seaside resorts. Its beauty is not apparent to those travelers from the Continent who sit and traverse the town in a railway carriage on the way to Wurtemburg or London. Its great feature is its delightful promenade on the summit of the cliffs that borders the ocean, and which is known as the Lees, so-called from the old English word signifying meadows, for in former times it was covered with fields. The cliff, with its arched walk and staircase of turf, and its beautiful views of Shakespeare's Cliff, at Dover, on one side and of Dungeness Point on the other, is only excluded by the magnificence of Scarborough. But the "Queen of the North," as its splendid rival is called, lies too far away to be available for the English tourists, and its beauty is not equal to that of the channel-Boulogne-sur-Mer.

Though it has none of the stately historic past of the French resort, whose sovereigns are in power of the Dukes of Normandy at the time of the Conquest, it has the same position amongst the pleasure seekers of Folkestone as does Hyde Park to the London tourist. Everybody goes there to stroll up and down or to listen to the band, which plays for six hours daily, and to enjoy the refreshments and refreshments of the steaming sea breeze. It is a much handsomer place than across the channel-Boulogne-sur-Mer.

LEADING BATTERS.

Records of the Players Who Do Good Stick Work.

CLEVELAND HAS SEVEN REPRESENTATIVES AMONG THE HEAVY HITTERS.

If anybody wants to know the reason why Cleveland is leading the League in the race for the pennant, they have only to glance down the appended list.

Seven of her players rank among the leading batters, which is a larger percentage than any other club can show.

Buck Ewing has gotten back to form in every direction, and is batting as well as catching the game of his life. His average is within 2 points of .400, which means an average of two hits for every five times at bat. Young McGrath of Baltimore ranks next, with a splendid average, although he has participated in but fifteen games. Delehanty of Philadelphia and Childs of Cleveland come next on the list of steady powermen. Dan Brothman is not so high up as usual. Dan says that bunting is lowering his average, but he still ranks among the upper ten. Tom Burns, the Brooklyn right-fielder who headed the list all through the first championship series, has fallen off in stick work at a frightful pace and does not rank among the leaders any longer. John Ward of Brooklyn is another slugger who is conspicuous for his absence.

St. Louis has only three representatives among the leaders. Cliff Garrow, the returning left fielder, is tied with Jim Hartigan of Philadelphia who led the League last season. Jack Glasscock comes next, holding down thirty-second place with Roger Connor of Boston. Jim Corcoran of St. Louis holds to the tail end by an eyelash. Jim is in vain for Carruthers, Brodie and Gleason but they have not reached the average which means one base hit out of four times at the plate.

The following table gives the complete batting record of the men who have an average of .300 or over. It is based upon figures of Clarence Dow, the base ball statistician of the Boston Globe:

AN EVERY-DAY OCCURRENCE.

The Browns received their daily drubbing yesterday at the hands of the Washington team. Both teams played ball until the sixth inning, then St. Louis made three runs after the side should have been retired. Washington took their turn and pounded out fifteen runs in the next two innings. The Indians were played in by a lot of schoolboys. The error column does not half gauge the quality of their game. Glasscock had two errors, the others, the Browns, st. Louis, were appropriated by McMorris, Briggs and Camp. Half the hits credited to Washington could have been cut by 20 percent. The Sunday bill of Washington, 15; St. Louis, 5; Errors—Washington, 8; St. Louis, 5; Batteries—Kilien and McGuire, 1; Brown and Buckley.

THE TURF.

J. G. Hambrick, the well-known Western book-maker, has been elected President of the Madison Racing Association. Mr. Hambrick, accompanied by ex-councilman Compton, who is one of the largest stockholders in the new track, and Dave Nelson, the local horsemen, went to Chicago Monday night. The object of the trio's visit to the Windy City is to secure horses from Garfield Park for the track's coming winter meeting. Now that it has become an assured fact that Garfield Park will remain closed, most of the stakes quartered there have been moved to other tracks to remove elsewhere. The greater part of them, especially the Western contingent, are expected to come west and set up shop at the East St. Louis and Madison. The crackhorses will go East and await the opening of Guttenberg, while those that choose to remain here will be accommodated at Hawthorne.

This, of course, will necessitate the freezing out of enough of the second raters at that course to make room for the new arrivals. Nevertheless, Corrigan is not going to let a chance slip away to capture the star Garfield pair. They will come to this city. Hambrick and Compton expect to gather together the better part of them for the Marion meet, which is to be held Oct. 1. Corrigan is to manage the Hawthorne course, a big stockholder in the East St. Louis track, and he will look out for its interests.
